

Leadership Intensive Workshop

Thursday, April 12, 2018 - New Orleans, LA

Leadership in palliative care is demonstrated by leading others with a clear vision of palliative care initiatives, motivating and inspiring others to achieve excellence in care, positively relating to others to create healthy work environments, and changing the behavior of others to work collaboratively in palliative care (Speck 2006).

These leadership qualities may be attained by any nurse at any level from the bedside nurse, the nurse group leader or organizer, to the nurse in a designated leadership position. Leadership within hospice and palliative must exist throughout the spectrum of nursing roles from nursing assistant, to licensed vocational/practical nurse, to registered nurse, and advanced practice registered nurse. To be successful, the nurse leader must assess their personal leadership capabilities prior to moving towards team development and competence.

Through didactic, role play, and interactive media, this one-day session will articulate the value of palliative nursing leadership, describing the characteristics of leaders, explore leadership of nurses at all levels of nursing practice across the spectrum of nursing. This includes nursing in clinical, management, education, research, and policy roles. We will also delineate necessary skills of the palliative nurse leader.

Faculty:

Constance Dahlin, MSN ANP-BC ACHPN FPCN FAAN
Hospice and Palliative Nurses Association

Patrick Coyne, MSN ACHPN ACNS-BC FPCN FAAN
Medical University of South Carolina

www.goHPNA.org

412-787-9301